Wednesday, May 26 17c8.

London, May 26.

Yesterday arriv'd from Holland the Mail of Friday last.

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 2.

Turin, May 17.

TH E Duke of Savoy is forming near Suza an Army of 30000 Men, besides 6000 near Pignerol, and 4000 in the Valley of Aoste: Which 40000 Men will consist, one half of his Royal Highness's own Troops, and the rest of Troops of the Allies. Great Magazines of Ammunition and Provisions are making at Suza, and a numerous Artillery is sent thither. An Officer of the French Troops perceiving the 12th Instant at a great Distance some Soldiers near the Fort of Exiles which had deserted from us, and were pursu'd by a Major with a Party, imagin'd our Troops were following in a Body, and therefore he made all the Haste he could to Grenoble and told M. de Medavi that his Royal Highness was in Motion with his Forces to Invest Exiles; Whereupon that General left Grenoble at Midnight, leaving Order that the next Morning 20 Pieces of Cannon should be sent after him, and gave Direction for 3 Regiments of Dragoons, 1 of Horse, and 5 of Foot, should draw together at Equebelle with all Expedition; which they did accordingly. The Inhabitants of Grenoble were so alarm'd at General Medavi's sudden Departure, that they began to pack up their best Effects, in order to send them up into the Country.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 2.

Vienna, May 19. Prince Eugene's Field-Equipage will speedily be sent from hence to Coblenz; and his Highness will follow the 26th or 27th Instant. 'Tis reckon'd his Army will consist of 26 or 28000 Men; and the Army of the Elector of Hanover of 34000.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated June 1.

Strasbourg, May 21. To Day at Noon the Elector of Bavaria with several Officers arriv'd here, and was welcom'd with a triple Discharge of above 100 Cannon. His Electoral Highness went immediately with the Duke of Berwick and some other General Officers to the Army, which is encamp'd between this Place and Fort-Louis, and will pass in a general Review to Morrow. 'Tis talk'd they will pass the Rhine the next Day. The Train of Artillery, which stands ready without this City, consists of 42 heavy Cannon and 65 Field-Pieces, with 28 Mortars, and a great Number of Waggon &c loaded with Ammunition of all sorts. The Imperialists have posted all their Troops in the Lines of Bisingen, and in all Appearance we shall find it difficult and dangerous to make any Attempt against them.

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 2.

Strasbourg, May 23. The Spanish, and Bavarian Troops, with those of the Elector of Cologne detach'd to this Country from the Netherlands, amount to 10 or 11000 Men. Part of the French Cavalry have already pass'd the Rhine, and the Marquis de Vivans is encamp'd at Offenbourg with several thousand Horse.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated June 1.

Coblenz, May 24. The Camp which the Enemy have begun to form between Sirk and Thionville, consists at present but of 7 or 8 Battalions, and as many Squadrons; but all the Enemy's Garrisons on the Moselle and the Saar are if Need require to draw thither, and then they will be able to make up a Body of 16 or 17000 Men at most.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 1.

Letters from Francfort of the 27th of May tell us the Elector of Hanover was not then arriv'd there, having stopp'd at Cassel. The Troops that are to form the Army on the Moselle, continue their march thither: The Enemy do likewise cause Troops to file that Way.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 2.

Hildesheim, May 29. The Dutch Envoy M. Bruyninx arriv'd the 27th at Hanover from Vienna: He waited on the Elector of Hanover, and had the Honour to dine with him. The Electoral Prince of Hanover has given Direction for hastening his Field-Equipage, that he may go to the Army of the Allies in the Netherlands.

From the Paris Letter, dated May 28.

Paris, May 28. The Letters from Madrid of the 15th of this Month bring the following Account.

'Tis confirm'd from Arragon, that the Troops are on the March from all Quarters to take the Field. Besides those that compose the Army of the Duke of Orleans, which were to draw together in the Camp of Torrente in the Neighbourhood of Fraga the 10th, 6 Regiments have taken their Route to Castellon de Farfanna near Balaguer, that they may keep a Communication with the Body commanded by the Duke de Noailles, who according to the last Advices is encamp'd in the Plain of Urgel with 22 Battalions, 28 Squadrons, and a Body of Miquelets. The Marquis de Bombasir Major-General, marches with some Regiments by the Way of the Mountains; the Regiments of Asturias and Pampelona march towards Benacarre within 6 Leagues of Balbastro in the County of Ribagorza, in order to possess themselves of the Bridge of Montanna on the River Noguera, and reduce to Obedience the Valley of Venasque and other Parts into which the rebellious Miquelets have spread themselves. Don Pedro Ronquillo Major General, having Advice that the Governour of Villa Joyosa situate in the Kingdom of Valencia, on the Sea-Coast, within 5 Leagues of Alicante, had laid Siege to the Castle of Finistrat, sent a Detachment of Horse and Foot to relieve the Garrison, who by their Resistance gave them time to come up. The Enemy on the Approach of those Succours retir'd in Disorder; above 80 of them were kill'd, and a good Number taken Prisoners, among them the Governour of Villa-Joyosa and 8 Officers: 16 Miquelets being found among the Prisoners, were hang'd. By fresher Advices we learn, that the Duke of Orleans was at Lerida the 12th, and was to march towards Tortosa the 13th; and that the Artillery and Parr of his Troops had pass'd the Ebro at Calpe and taken their Way towards Flix.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated June 1.

Paris, May 28. A Courier from Arragon has brought Advice, that the Duke of Orleans having pass'd the Ebro near Calpe the 14th Instant, march'd the 15th towards Tortosa, in which Place the Enemy have a Garrison of 4000 Men. The Elector of Bavaria arriv'd the 18th at Metz, and the 21st at Strasbourg: The Duke of Lorraine caus'd him to be Complemented in his Passage through his Territories. We hourly expect Advice that he has pass'd the Rhine with his Army. The Marshal de Villars has taken Leave of the King, and to Morrow sets out for Grenoble. They write from Dunkirk, that a Squadron to be commanded by M. de Forbin, lay ready to sail from that Harbour; that Squadron consists of 9 Men of War, viz. 2 of 64 Guns, 2 of 54, 1 of 50, 2 of 46, and 2 of 26 Guns. They are likewise fitting out at Brest a Squadron of 12 Ships. But the Expedition they are design'd for is not known.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 2.

Dunkirk, May 26. 15 or 16 English Men of War lie at an Anchor at some Distance North West from this Harbour. We have Advice, that 23 French Barks laden with Wine, Brandy, and Salt, together with 4 Ships bound for Newfoundland and the West Indies, are taken by some Zealand Privateers and Men of War.

The

The Leiden Gazette says, 'twas advis'd from Dunkirk that the Privateers of Guernsey had taken 23 French Vessels bound from Bourdeaux for Dunkirk.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated June 1.

Namur, May 29. On Intelligence of the Duke of Marlborough's being come and encamp'd with the Confederate Army between Halle and Enguien, the rest of our Garrison march'd Yesterday Morning, with some other Regiments that had encamp'd near the Abbey of Marlogne, to reinforce the French Army, which is advantageously posted near Soignies. By encamping on that Ground, our Army cover Charleroy and Mons, and our Convoys pass without Danger or Difficulty.

From the Harlem and Antwerp Courants.

Halle, May 30. The Army of the Allies is now encamp'd a little above this City, and that of the French near Soignies. The Defectors from the Enemy report unanimously, that the Duke of Burgundy has Orders from the King of France not to make any hazardous March, till it be seen whether the Elector of Bavaria can execute with good Success the Projects form'd against the Germans. The Army of the Allies is compos'd of 181 Squadrons and 111 Battalions.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated June 1.

Ghent, May 30. Great Quantities of Ammunition and Meal are continu'd to be sent up to Audenarde, Courtray and Menin: Which confirms us in our Conjecture that our Army will lay Siege to Tournay or Ipres, if they cannot draw the Enemy to a Battle.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 2.

From the Army of the Allies at St. Renelle, May 30. Yesterday our Army advanc'd forwards; so that our Left-Wing is now near Lembeck and Tubise, and our Right at Herselingen. The Duke of Marlborough has his Head-Quarters at St. Renelle. It was hop'd that by this Move we should draw the Enemy out of their advantageous Camp at Soignies, but they continue there, and seem not at all dispos'd to an Engagement, but rather to lie still and see what Course we will take. They threaten to lay Siege to Aeth, but 'tis believ'd they dare not undertake it, notwithstanding they are above 130 Battalions and 200 Squadrons, which however are much thinner than ours. The Dukes of Burgundy, Berry, and Vendome have their Quarters at Soignies: Their Soldiers Desert already in great Numbers, though Guards are plac'd all along the Front of their Camp to keep their Men in. The Enemy give out the Dauphin will come to their Army, but 'tis not believ'd. 'Tis mutually agreed by a Cartel, that whatever Prisoners are taken this Campaign by Parties on either Side, shall ransom themselves for a Month's Pay. The first Ranks of the Enemy's Cavalry, are made up of Officers; and their Battalions are treble Officer'd.

Brussels, May 30. Yesterday-noon Major-General Cadogan came hither from the Army; and thereupon the Council of State Assembled in the Evening. To Day he is gone back agen to the Army. Officers that come hither from the Camp, say, that as the Armies are now posted, we cannot attack the Enemy in their Camp, nor the Enemy attack us in our Camp.

Hague, May 31. We are inform'd that the Duke of Marlborough has order'd 5 Battalions of Foot and 1 Regiment of Horse, that were to come from Aeth to the Army, to continue there, lest the Enemy extending their Left should besiege that Place.

From the Army under the Duke of Marlborough encamp'd at Renelle, May 31. The Enemy continue in their Camp at Soignies: A great Number of Defectors from them are come over to us, among them many of our Men that were taken in the Battle of Almanza. We advanc'd to this Camp the 29th Instant. The same Day the Enemy's heavy Baggage joyn'd them from Mons, and this Day they sent it back thither: Upon which the Duke of Marlborough has given Orders to our Army to hold themselves ready to march at an Hour's Warning.
